My dear Maema

I am afraid my last letter was over & before you got it, I missed two mails somehow.
Thanks most awfully for all the clothes and things you have sent, the "tosser" as Bertha would call it is awfully useful as we are going to a sort of boarding house kept by the D^r and his wife in Orlando and I dare say they would expect me to have a piece of macintosh,

I am awfully glad you thought of sending me a short frock, it will do splendidly for a pattern, I am beginning to learn to sew at last, I am making a dozen little thin bodices that I can put on flannel or white petticoats in no time when it wants to be short coated, I don't want to leave off sewing for the summer, the needles all squeak and the scissors get rusty directly there besides the flies worry so frightfully, but just now I am glad to have it to do. We are going to drive to Kisseimmee next Monday week (the 22nd) and go on next day to Orlando either by train or buggy, I shall drive if I am not too tired, the trains are so horrid long cars with seats like pews and everybody mixed together, there are only two classes, and of course that means black and white, ~~to~~ both are nasty; at least of course I have only tried the white. Bill is gone into Missouri today and is to be out tomorrow morning, Herbert is here again and Capt. Stratford is gone I am glad to say, Bill always disliked him and he certainly was not a nice old man; the way he left was very unpleasant though, yesterday we were having a makeshift lunch at $\frac{1}{2}$ past one ~~in~~ the kitchen all four of us and Herbert had cut the beef and was beginning his, when all at once the old Capt. ~~ran~~ rushed out, Bill went to ask him what was the matter, and he said there was not enough bread and wouldn't come back, of course we didn't care what he did, and he never came back until this morning, and then it was for his luggage, I asked him why he had gone and he said Bill & Herbert were so rich they had not asked him (the stranger) what he would have first before they began themselves, I explained Harcoossee was not London, but I am glad he went, he has been here more than a fortnight, and was an utter stranger to Bill & myself except by a letter of introduction. I have been awfully well lately except for two days and then I really couldn't say I was ill, on top of sorts that was all, I can always have breakfast in bed if I like, but 1

I very rarely do, Bill is a fearful old grandmother about me and insists on my going out regularly every day and not doing any work except pottering about doing easy light things, it will be all thanks to him if I have an easy time when it happens, and I think I shall. Mullins has been rather disagreeable about our going to another house, but it couldn't be helped even if he is offended and he ought to understand - I shall be very glad to see Gladys' photo I expect she had altered when it was taken from when I left, fancy nearly a year gone already - We have an ~~orange~~ ^{orange} tree with about 75 blossoms on it and nearly all the trees have some on them, I am afraid we shall

have to pick it all off. I had a long letter from Maurice last week, I sent it on to Robin to read, he seems to like Australia pretty well all round, but the work seems hard. How is Frank, I am afraid he thinks us unfriendly not to find him a job, but we can't do it, as it is Herbert's out of work and we can't afford to keep Frank on the chance of his getting a job, it would prob'ly mean six months or more. How is Dotty still on the short I suppose. Poor little Gladys how is her face, I think this place would suit her down to the ground (here is a bargain) you send her out with nurse and I'll look after her gratis, I think I would get nurse to mind the other one though, can't you imagine me bathing it etc, I expect I shall drop it ~~me~~ ^{or} twice before I get used to it. With best to all the others and many thanks again for the trouble they have all taken for the little thing.

Yours affectly

Helena F. Warren.
